I'm going for a visit,
Going far away,

Going to visit Peter,
And I'm starting out today.

Have to get my suitcase—
Going far away.

Open up my suitcase,
For I'm packing up today.

Trying to discover
All the things I'll need–

A comb and brush,
and toothpaste

And a book or two to read.

Now I'll pack my washcloth,
Towel, and cake of soap!

Writing paper, pencil,
And an airmail envelope.

Next my yellow pajamas,
Then my shoes and socks,

Slippers and a bathrobe,

And some cookies in a box.

Won't forget my rubbers,
Rainhat, and a coat.

Won't forget my hankie
And my football and my boat.

How about a sweater
And cotton underwear?

A tee shirt and some blue jeans
And my fuzzy Teddy bear?

I think I'll pack my camera
So I can take a shot
Of Peter and his Mom and Dad
And baby sister Dot.

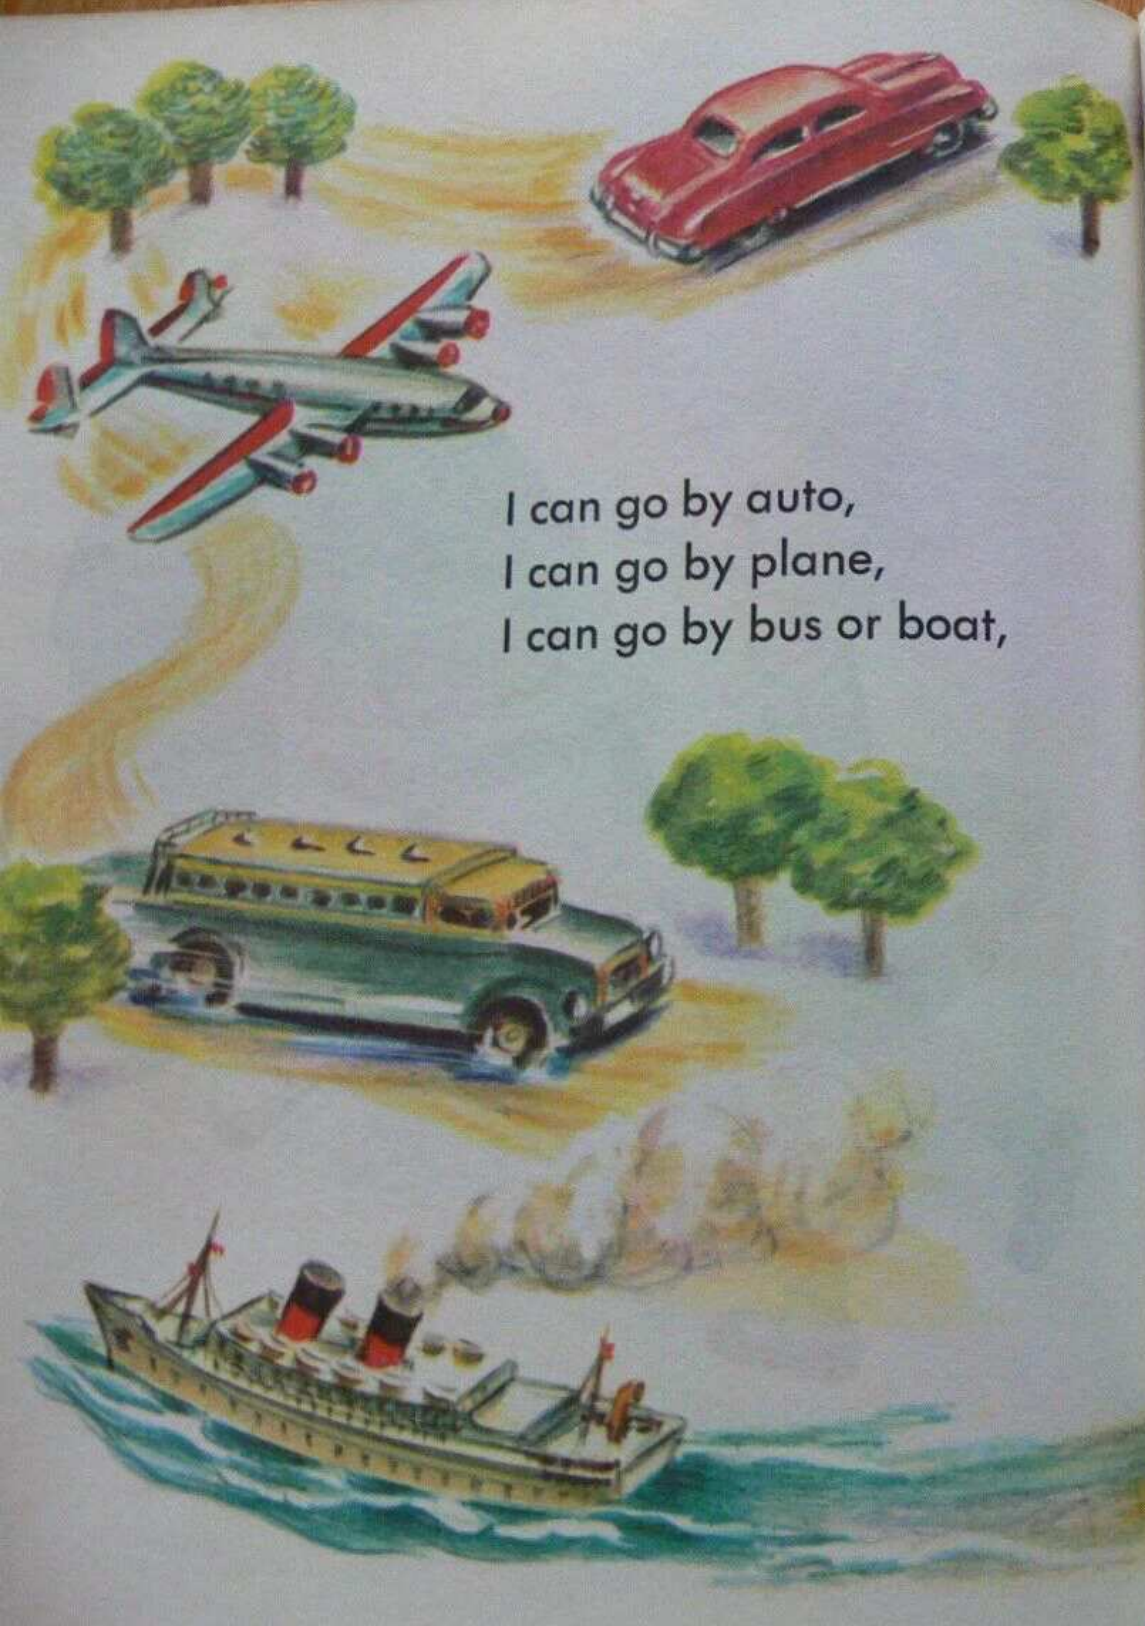
Better take some money
In case I want to pay
For candy, or a magazine
Or a meal on the way.

Putting on my jacket–
It's blue with stripes of red.

My ticket's in my pocket
My hat is on my head.

Closing up my suitcase
It's time to take a ride.

Oops, forgot my toothbrush—
I can put it right inside.



I can go by auto,
I can go by plane,
I can go by bus or boat,

Or by a pullman train.

Everything is ready
Neat as apple pie–
Close my suitcase,

Off I go–

Good-by, good-by, good-by.

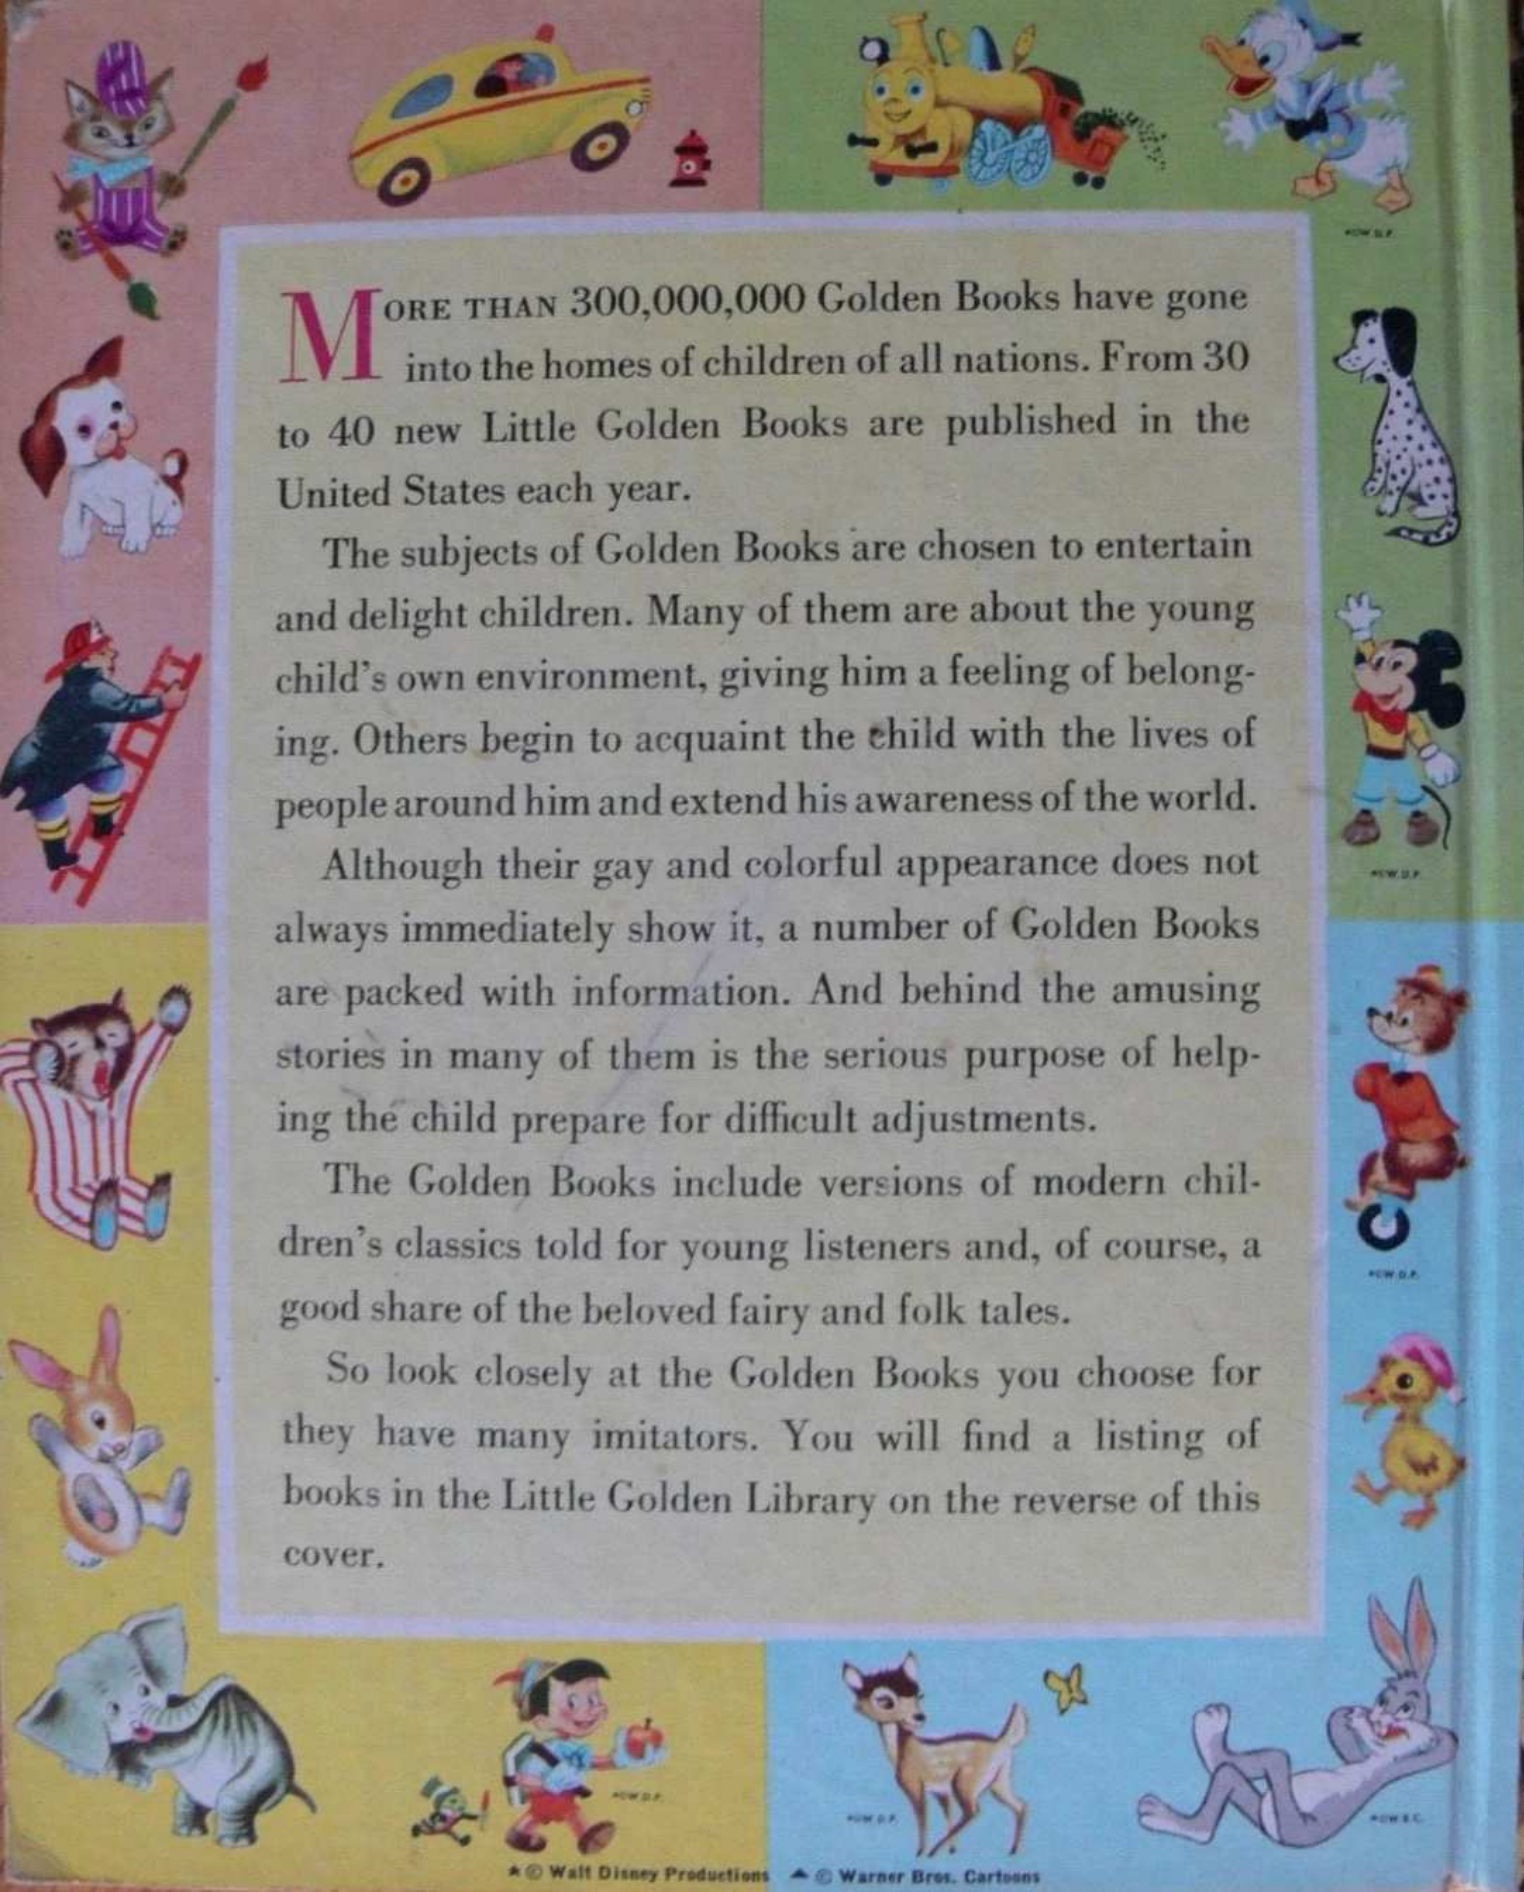
★ Walt Disney Books † Bank Street Books



MORE THAN 300,000,000 Golden Books have gone into the homes of children of all nations. From 30 to 40 new Little Golden Books are published in the United States each year.

The subjects of Golden Books are chosen to entertain and delight children. Many of them are about the young child's own environment, giving him a feeling of belonging. Others begin to acquaint the child with the lives of people around him and extend his awareness of the world.

Although their gay and colorful appearance does not always immediately show it, a number of Golden Books are packed with information. And behind the amusing stories in many of them is the serious purpose of helping the child prepare for difficult adjustments.

The Golden Books include versions of modern children's classics told for young listeners and, of course, a good share of the beloved fairy and folk tales.

So look closely at the Golden Books you choose for they have many imitators. You will find a listing of books in the Little Golden Library on the reverse of this cover.
